Dedication

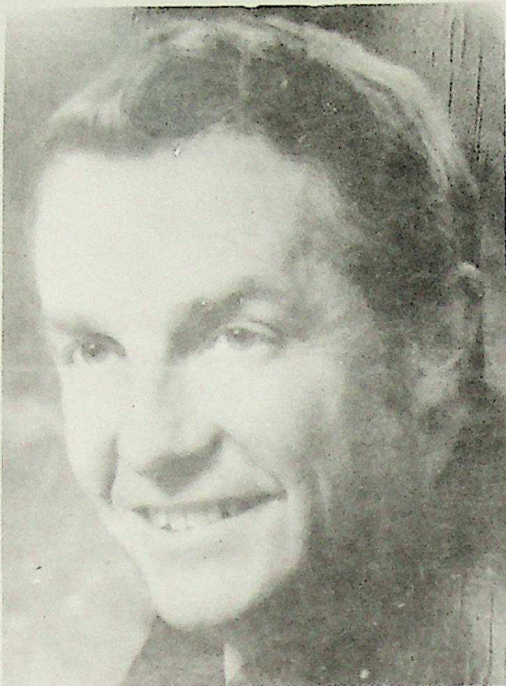

MISS PALATE

We, the yearbook staff, would like to dedicate our book to Miss Palate who has been an excellent teacher for 20 years. She always gives us piles of homework and usually encourages some of the students go to Gallaudet College after passing their entrance examinations. Also she encourages us to finish reading books before taking us to see movies about the same stories. Sometimes we don't understand parts of stories, and she come to help us understand them. She brings stories from all parts of the world for us. She encourages us to enjoy dramas, and pantomime and had directed many of our Christmas concerts.

We are grateful to have her as our teacher.

PREMIER PETER LOUGHEED

It is again my pleasure to have an opportunity to contribute to the Alberta School for the Deaf Yearbook.

I know I speak on behalf of all Albertans when I say how proud we all are in the accomplishments made by those with serious hearing handicaps. As a government, it is our hope that Albertans will have a chance to benefit from those accomplishments, as well as from your many valuable talents, in making our great province an even better place to live.

Please accept my warmest and sincere best wishes to all students attending the School for the Deaf.

Peter Lougheed

LT. GOVERNOR, RALPH G. STEINHAUER

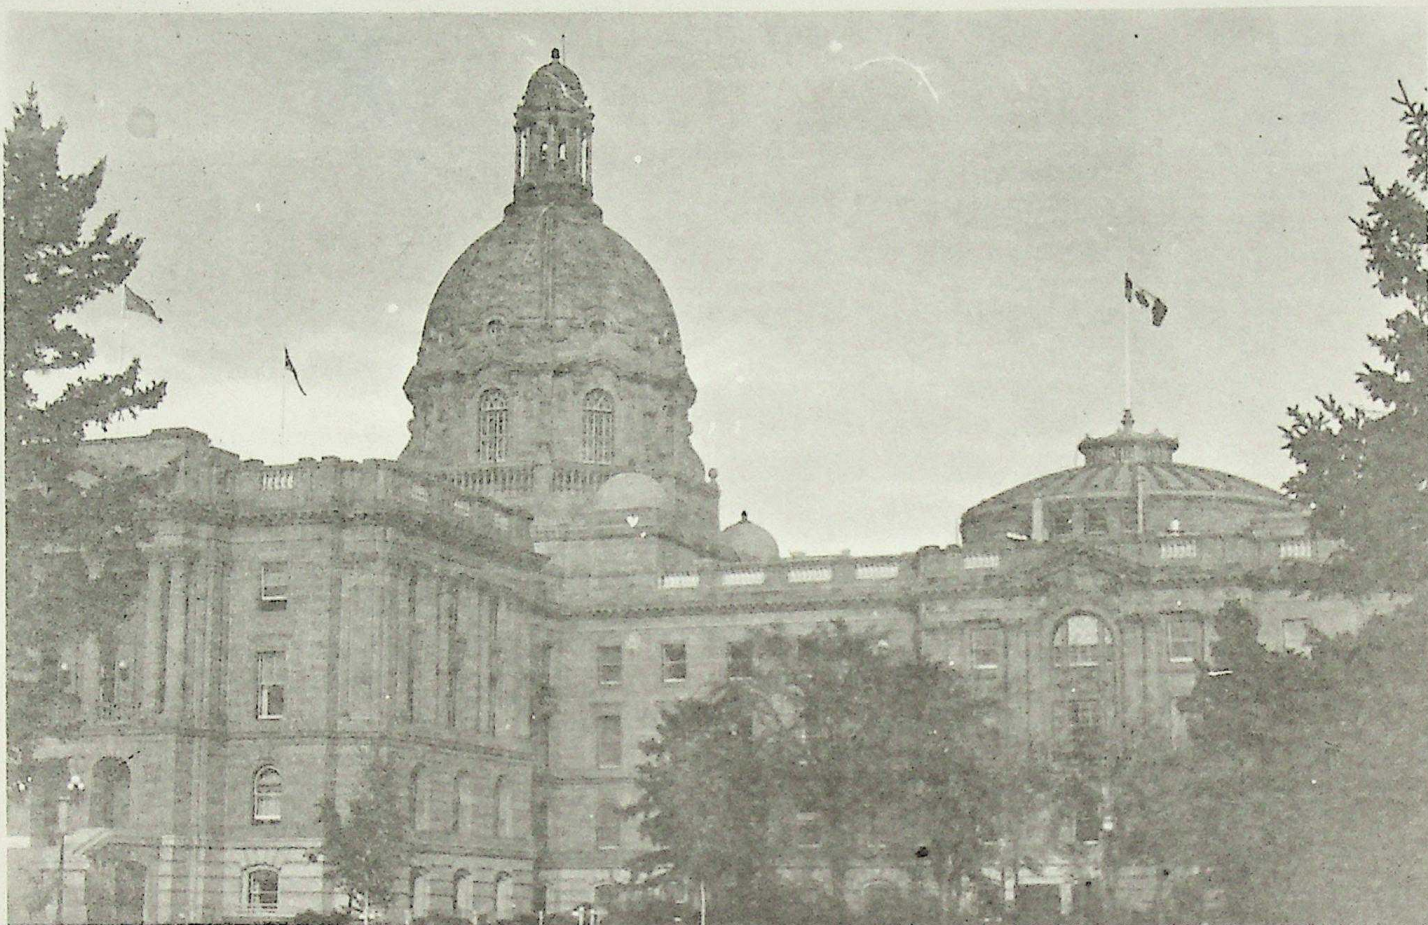

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the students of the Alberta School for the Deaf on the fine job they have done in preparing and publishing the yearbook.

As you thumb through the pages in the years ahead you will be reminded of many hours of the past.

I wish a very successful future blessed with health and happiness.

Ralph G. Steinhauer,
Lieutenant Governor.

Yours sincerely,

Julian Koziak

Greetings from the Minister to the students of the Alberta School for the Deaf.

Your Yearbook will become an even more prized possession in the future than it is now. In later years, the demands of family, career, and individual interests will dim some of the memories of your school experiences, but a glance at your Yearbook will bring to mind much of the pleasure, excitement, and even occasional heartbreak of your school years—the friendships made, and the good times shared.

For those of you who have lived at the Alberta School for the Deaf as well as attended classes there, the school takes on even greater significance. Ties to the school may be even closer than in the day school situation, for the experience of 'living in' allows more opportunity for sharing many moments and developing closer relationships with fellow students and staff.

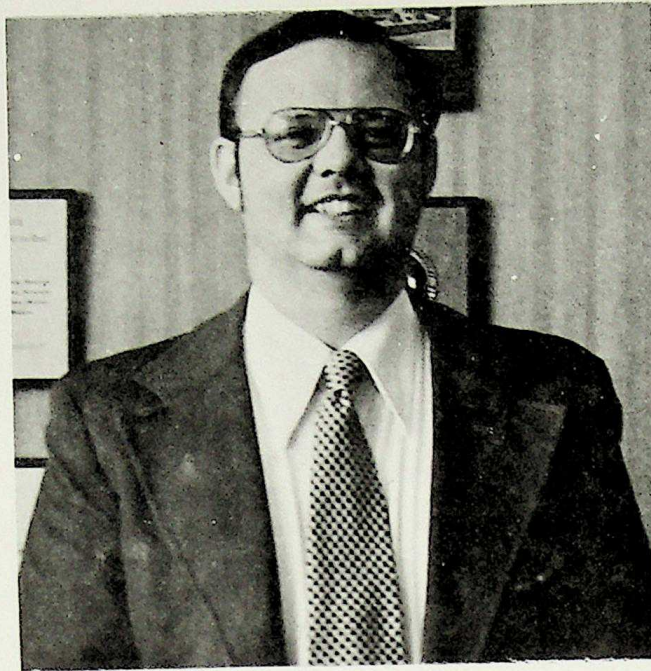

I'm confident that your experiences at the Alberta School for the Deaf have added to your knowledge, your job skills, and your self assurance in working with students, teachers, and other staff. Even more important is the work of the school in widening the road for communication between you and your families.

My best wishes to all the students and staff of the School and particularly to the members of the Class of 1976.

JULIAN KOZIAK,
MINISTER OF EDUCATION

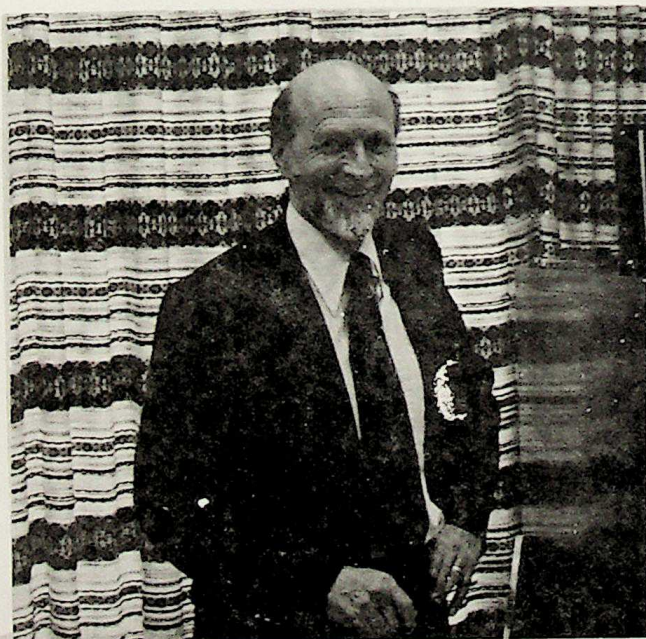

MR. BOESEN

The achievements of A.S.D. students continue to make all of us very proud. As a school we are pleased that we have been able to contribute to their growth as responsible young men and women. We look forward to their becoming responsible contributing citizens of our society. The achievement of producing a yearbook is just one way of many in which our students have been encouraged to develop responsibility. It is very satisfying to all of us when the results of our efforts in guidance and encouragement produce a yearbook such as this.

As a yearbook always features those students graduating, it is appropriate that we extend our best wishes to them also. They have experienced the concerned efforts on their behalf of some of the finest people in Alberta. Those people include but are certainly not limited to the staff of the Alberta School for the Deaf. All of those concerned are interested in the future of each graduating student and I am sure, join me in this expression of congratulations to each of our graduates.

MR. FREEMANTLE

To those of you who are leaving us to-day you have completed one more step of your education journey. Now you are ready to commence the next step. Some of you will be going on to further your education - some into employment.

Each of you will discover that you must make your own exploration of the world, make his own discoveries, shape his own successes and endure his own disappointments. Each of us is an explorer of ourselves, of knowledge, the intricate and beautiful and wonderful varieties of experience. Whatever your choice, whether continued education, of employment - learn, learn all you can about yourself and the world.

You have the schools highest hopes and best wishes for a rewarding future.

My responsibilities during the past year have been very challenging while attending W.P. Wagner school in the mornings instructing and going out to various job sites with our students who were involved with construction.

During the afternoons, holding classes at A.S.D. discussing jobs, job possibilities and endeavoring to get students planning more for their future through vocational counselling.

Miss Trotter

The year 1975-1976 has been a busy one. Talk to schools and community groups have continued, as have sessions with the University Hospital Preschool Hearing Clinic, working with parents and coordinating educational assessment for the Resource Centre.

A new venture for me this year, was taking part in the Edmonton Interagency Council, Education Committee.

One of the highlights of the year was participating in the Western Conference on Deafness, in Calgary over the long weekend.

Mrs. Cole
Hearing Aid Clerk

This has been a very busy year. With the new Phonic Ear and the Handicapped Children Services Assessments for new hearing aids. All the student's had their hearing, retested at the school this year, through the Glenrose Hospital.

The original hearing assessments for all new student's, were tested over at the Glenrose Hospital.

Hoping next year, will be as full and successful as this year has been.

The Provincial Resource Centre team deals with the concerns of the hearing impaired pre-school and school aged children across the province of Alberta. The Consultant for Psychological Services is a member of the team. We assist physicians, educators, and other professionals in the early identification of hearing impairment. Parents also require help in accepting their child's handicap and in planning for their child's future. Public in understanding deafness.

My contact with the ASD students is through the administration of psychological tests, through counseling for those who have difficulties growing up, and through their parents for management questions.

Each year the graduating class seems to be taller than the students of the previous years. This year I have been asked to buy a yellow ASD shirt with green letterings. With a green belt and a green kerchief, I have a dress. They students are either telling me that I am short or they are tall. Their shirt can be my dress.

I wish the 1975-1976 graduating class success in their future endeavors. They have all promised to visit their Alma Mater when they can.

I have unsuccessfully looked high and low for a nice verse or some fancy prose that might be used to convey my thoughts and feeling at this time, and it appears that you will have to be satisfied with very sincere congratulation and best wishes.

Leadership Camp

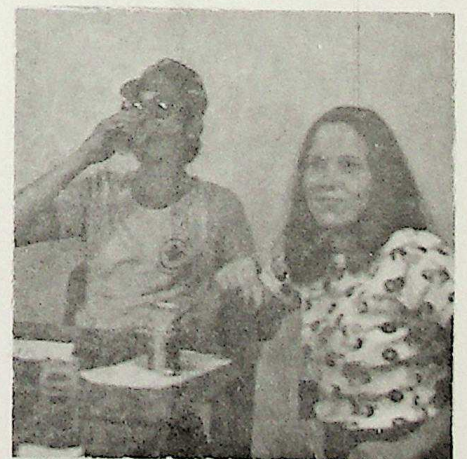

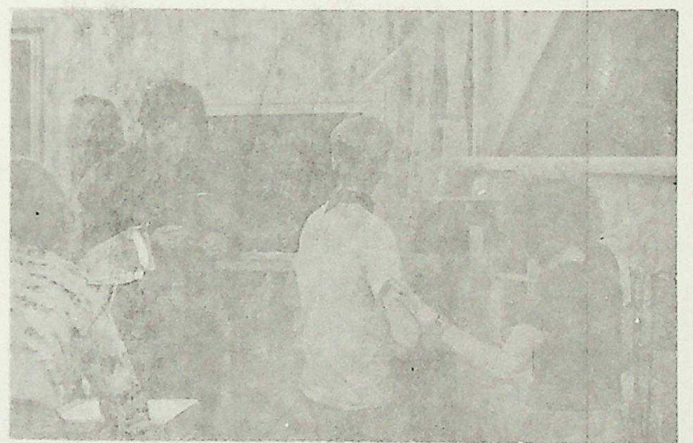

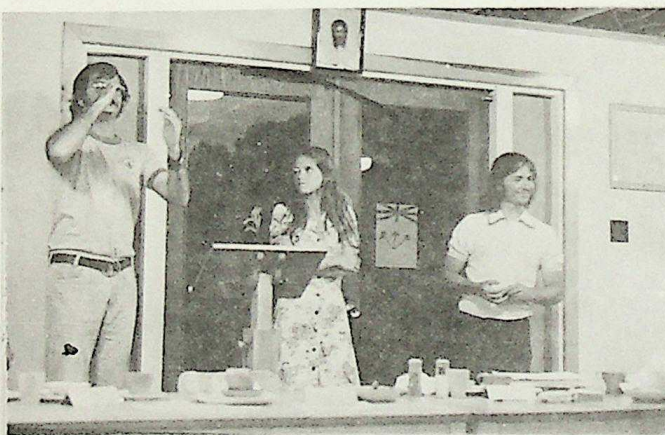

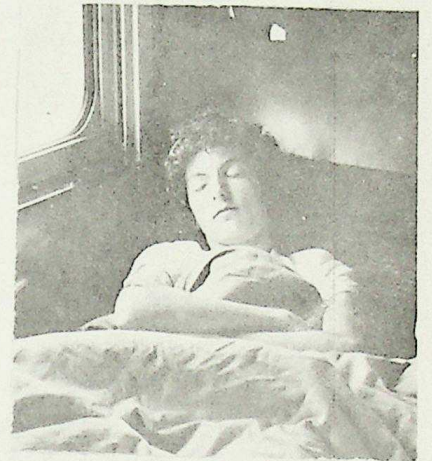

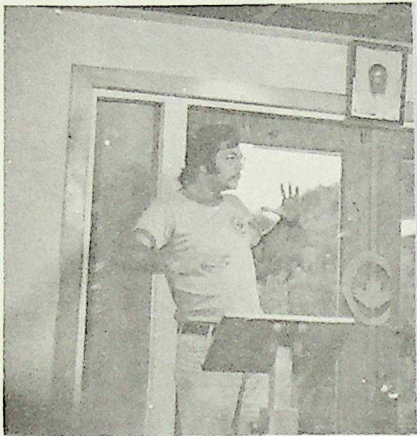

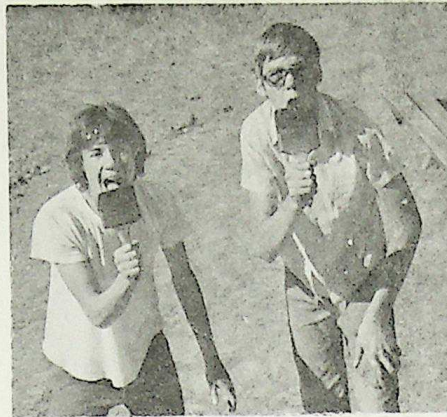

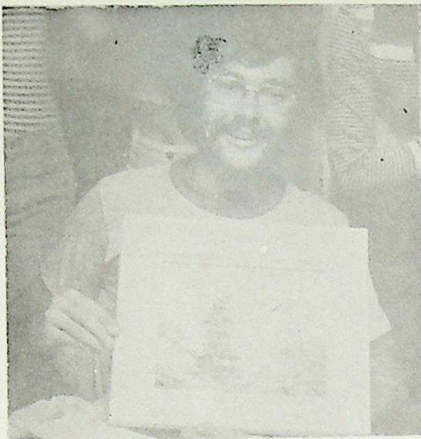

The primary purpose of the Canadian Deaf Youth Leadership Camp is to motivate young student leaders from schools for the deaf to develop a purpose in life while in school through self-directed programs of learning and development. The CDYLC program is designed to provide knowledge and give skills in leadership. During the camp, participants explore such group activities styles, dimensions of leadership behavior, positive communication, evolvement of change, the development of motivation, problem solving and action planning. Emphasis is placed on developing an understanding of group process which is the dynamics of how groups operate and the kinds of individual behavior which enables groups to effectively achieve their objectives and goals. Participants are given an opportunity to define and work on their individual leadership- learning needs in addition to those areas included in the program format.

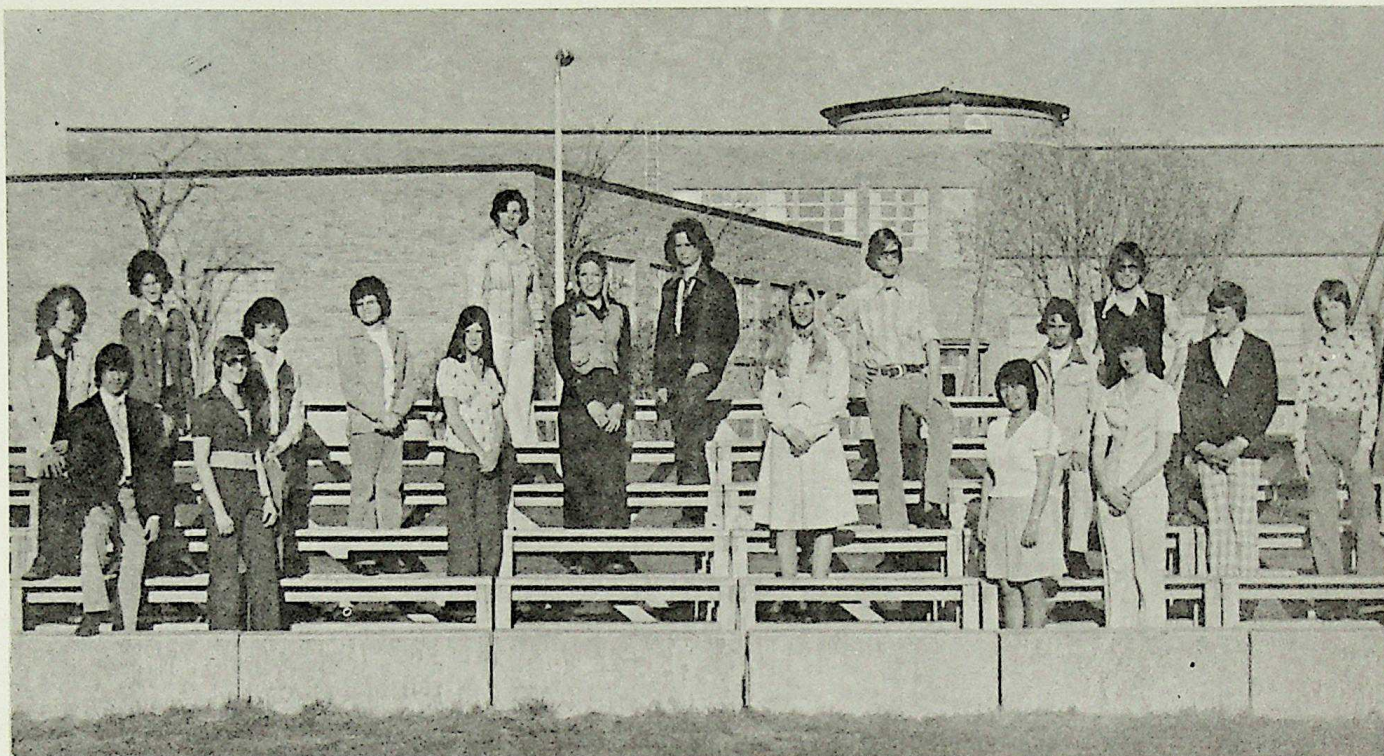

A secondary purpose is to provide a real opportunity for integration and participation with members of the hearing community. This program will be carefully designed so as to make the leaders more aware of their citizenship, scholarship, and fellowship responsibilities as self-starters in their respective schools.

Our objective is to help the participants realize that they are leaders in the most important sense of the term. They can influence a great number of others and their realm of influence will expand continually.
